As Christian families, many of us have cherished traditions which focus on the birth of our savior, Jesus Christ. To help instill the true meaning of Christmas in our children, many of us hold birthday parties for Jesus, faithfully read the story of Christ's humble birth before opening gifts on Christmas morning, or wait until Christmas Eve to gently place baby Jesus in the manger of our nativity sets. These special traditions help teach our children to always remember that Jesus is the 'reason for the season.'

It is important that we don't let the image of that sweet baby laying in a manger with gentle farm animals protectively standing guard be the end of our teaching. The reality is that the true reason for Christ's birth was his sacrificial death. He willingly came and endured a life here on earth so that we could have what we could never earn or deserve: eternity. He endured separation from his Father so that we would never be separated from the love of God.

No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels or rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord (Romans 8:31-39).

So, keep those traditions in place and keep focusing on Jesus as the reason for the season; just be sure to teach the whole history of Christ's days on earth and not only the beginning, because without an end to his earthly life, our hope has no beginning.

We pray that you have a wonderful Christmas break and enjoy all the good things of the season!
